

Civilization is Based Upon Two Principles...

Being Civilized...

Smith Metal Arts accessories represent the height of refinement in a sometimes less than civilized world. Their singular craftsmanship achieves a level of distinction that is rare in our time. And no matter how elegant and satisfying the selection, the works of Smith remain true to the practical function of their intended design.

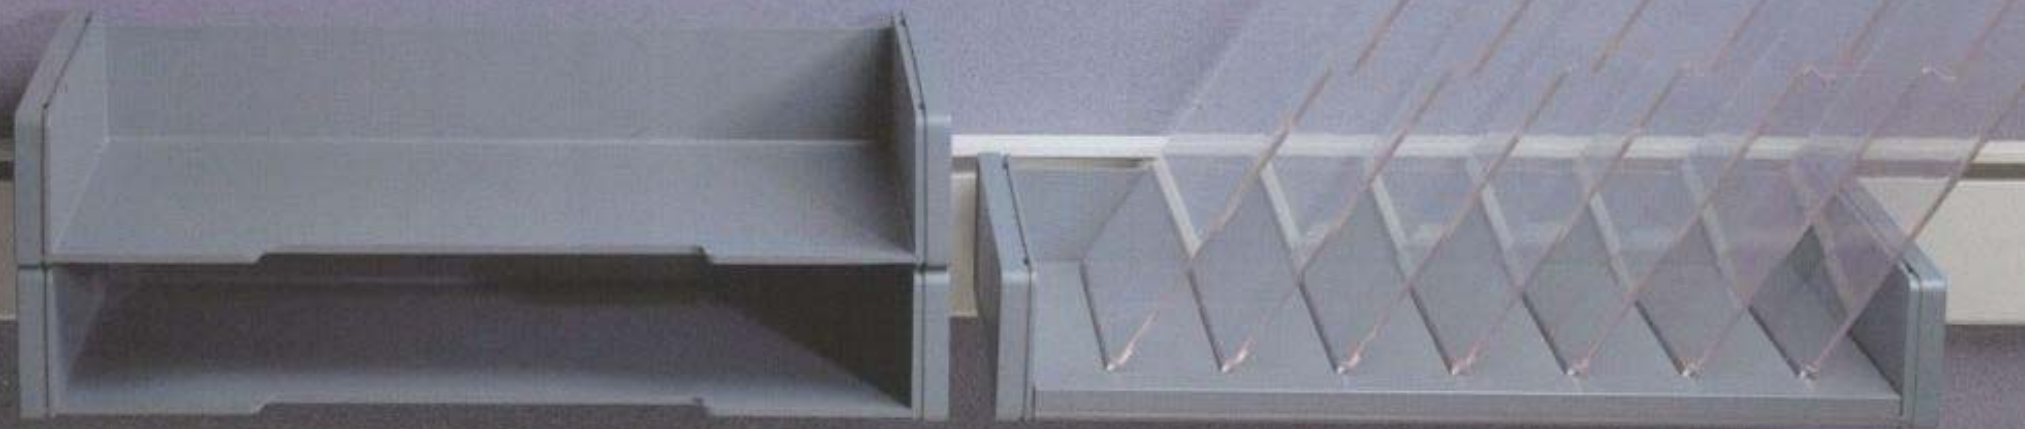

...and Staying Organized

Computers and the Internet have not eliminated paper work. If anything, it is more important now than ever before to organize the workplace for comfort and productivity.

McDonald Products offers a large selection of office and architectural accessories designed for efficiency, yet mindful of aesthetics.
